This entertaining collection of questions and answers about America's leaders provides hours of brain-teasing fun for readers. Every conceivable subject is included, from scandals, pre-White House life, campaigns, military matters, and the cabinets, to notable quotes and notable women (wives and otherwise). Also included are tributes and memorials, as well as books and films about the presidents.

From the Back Cover With categories ranging from scandals and honors to personal histories and famous firsts, this updated edition of presidential trivia provides information that is both entertaining and educational. "Who was the only president to earn a Pulitzer Prize?" "Which president holds the record for having the most towns named after him?" "Which commander in chief kept alligators in the White House?" "Who proclaimed a national day of humiliation?" "Which leader of our country liked to play practical jokes on his staff?" "Which president smoked four packs a day?" "Who was the first president to practice martial arts?" The answers to these questions and hundreds of other fun facts about the leaders of our nation are displayed in question-and-answer format. J.
