Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart : Complete Serenades in Full Score, Series I (Dover Music Scores) before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Complete Serenades in Full Score, Series I (Dover Music Scores):

Some of Mozart's most enduring and popular music was originally composed for relatively minor occasions garden parties, weddings, birthdays, home concerts for his friends, and the like. Among these compositions were the multi-movement instrumental pieces he called "serenades." Written in the 1770s and 1780s, they include such favorite compositions as Eine kleine Nachtmusik, the Serenata Notturna, A Musical Joke, the "Haffner" Serenade, and the "Posthorn" Serenade. This two-volume set contains all of Mozart's nocturnas as well as the complete serenades. Series I includes: Serenade in D Major, K.185/167a (strings winds); Serenade in D Major, K.204/213a (strings winds);

Serenata Notturna, K.239 (strings timpani); "Haffner Serenade, K.250/248b (strings winds); Serenade in C Minor, K.388/384a (8 winds); and A Musical Joke (Ein musikalischer Spass), K.255 (strings horns). Reprinted from the authoritative Breitkopf Hrtel edition, these effervescent works are now readily available in these two sturdy, attractive, inexpensive volumes, inviting musicians and music lovers to savor and study their characteristic Mozartean clarity, invention, and charm.
