Alan K Long : Craps For Low Rollers: Black and White version before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Craps For Low Rollers: Black and White version:

If you are a "High-Roller" with deep pockets or a "Whale", as the casinos fondly call you, then this book is not for you, but maybe it should be. Furthermore, this is not intended to be an all knowing book to teach you how to play craps. This book is designed for the recreational player that wants to learn to play for fun and would like to win on a regular basis to pay for your trips to the casino and build some valuable casino "comp" time. This book is not about how to play craps; it is, however, a book about how to win at playing craps. I will cover all of the basics of the game so you will have a working knowledge of the table layout and various bets including some that you can incorporate into your own style of playing. Many of the craps wagers that you see players bet are sucker bets and don't apply to my winning strategy.

About the Author Alan Long lives in Las Vegas and has been playing the game of craps since 1981. Alan worked for IBM for 13 years in sales and marketing before starting his own transportation company in Colorado. He sold his company in 1991 to fulfill a dream of sailing his yacht in the Caribbean on a full-time basis. Since returning to land based activities, Alan plays craps almost every day to supplement his retirement. With this success another dream soon came about in the form of writing of this book about how to win at craps on a regular basis. Alan also soon realized that writing a book about playing craps is a hell of a lot harder than playing craps.
