Wizards Team : DD Miniatures Starter Pack: A DD Miniatures Game Product (DD Miniatures Product) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised DD Miniatures Starter Pack: A DD Miniatures Game Product (DD Miniatures Product):

miniatures - so it's important to know how I'm grading them.1)Miniatures gaming system: the basic handbook that comes with the entry pack provides you with an important understanding of the skirmishes rules. The rules have been designed to facilitate much quicker battle resolution than with the more complicated combat system provided by the DD RPG (unless you include too many combatants). The rules are for the most part understandable, with only a few complications. The miniatures are useful as a stand-alone product, and they come with their own statistic cards. (you can also play mass battles with the miniatures, rules are provided for that as well - but I have little personal interest in it)AND These statistic cards can transform this stand-alone game into an accessory to your normal DD RPG campaign to supplement battles - using the miniature battle system OR by using the reverse side of the stat card to use the miniature in the normal DD combat rules.2)Aesthetic: The miniature are POORLY painted, and are often bent (they are plastic, not metal). This upsets me given that I took great care to paint the old metal ones.3)Randomization: For the old miniature players - its frustrating to not be able to custom assemble your army piece by piece. The current DD miniatures come in randomized packs (much like Magic cards) - you don't know what you will get and you'll often be forced to trade to assemble armies to your satisfaction. This feature increases their collectibility, however and may be seen as a bonus rather than as a drawback (as I saw it).In all, I believe that the miniatures are fairly affordable when compared to their metal predecessors. Their stand-alone playability makes them increasingly worthwhile for those that have no interest in standard RPGs. Lastly, I find their combat rules to be well written and brilliantly devised, while still based on creatures appearing in the various monster manuals.2 of 5 people found the following review helpful. New sale price - unbeatable dealBy JeffHad to comment on the new price is carrying on this product. For the DM, finding a large volume of quality miniatures to represent the various foes that your PCs will encounter has always been a challenge. Sorry folks, but MMs, Skittles, and glass beads just don't cut it any more.16 figures for $8! That's a steal. Let's break it down - 50 cents each for painted minis + terrain cards + 20-sided die + free shipping when you buy 4 boxes.Even if you never try out the included skirmish game, there's enough here to keep your players coming back to the roleplaying table. If you've been on the fence, now is the time to give them a try.1 of 7 people found the following review helpful. Finally!! DD sells painted miniatures for their game!!!By Patrick Von RavenI love them!!! I could never get into the painstaking efforts to paint miniatures, so if you couldn't either, this will be a god-send!

The DD Miniatures Entry Pack provides all the starting materials a player needs to become familiar with the brand-new DD Miniatures product line. The miniatures in this product are randomized and playable right out of the box. All the figures are drawn directly from the character classes and monsters described in the three Dungeons Dragons core rulebooks. DD Miniatures can be used to add three-dimensional definition to any roleplaying game campaign, and they can also be used to play skirmish and mass-battle combat scenarios. Entry pack components:- 16 randomized miniatures with statistics cards- a complete basic rulebook- a 20-sided die- a checklist for the miniatures set- terrain mapsheet and cardsDetails on the new DD Miniatures line:- Miniatures are pre-painted plastic and range between 40 mm and 65 mm in height- There are 80 unique miniatures in the first set release.- All miniatures packages are randomized and are made up of rare, uncommon, and common miniatures- All miniatures in the product line will be drawn directly from the Dungeons Dragons roleplaying game rulebooks and accessory books
